Re: NCICA Convention

Dear General Walters:

In following through with the request of your office regarding the program, we had hoped that the printed program would be ready by Friday afternoon at the time of our dry run meeting. The printing is apparently still en route. However, even though I had confirmed it to your secretary, I am enclosing a draft of the program as submitted to the printer - covering the three days of events.

The Speakers Table will be black tie. We will have a private cocktail party at ~~6:00~~ 6:30 o'clock on Saturday evening at the suite which Mrs. Jurco and I occupy. After this private cocktail party, we will go down to the main cocktail party for the purpose of having a receiving line, in order that the agents and their guests may have an opportunity to meet you prior to the beginning of the dinner. The dinner itself is outlined on the attached sheet.

We would hope that you would feel free to avail yourself of the opportunity to be with us in all of the events. We would be very happy to have you do so if your time situation permits it.

There are several options Saturday afternoon but the Chicago Tribune has offered to host a selected number of guests to visit CANTIGNEY FARMS near Wheaton, a suburb of Chicago. The location is that of the First Division Memorial founded by the late Col. McCormick, former editor of the Tribune. Mr. Veysay, former London corresponent of the Tribune will be in charge. If it is at all possible, I would appreciate if you could let me know as soon as you can whether this can be attended by you.

Again, feel free to call me if there are any further questions that we may be able to answer. We are looking forward to having you with us and look with interest to the message that your talk portrays.

Sincerely,

Stephen Jurco, President
